In an exclusive opening fireside chat, Property Forum founder Csanád Csörös will sit down with former President of Slovakia, Zuzana Čaputová, to discuss the most pressing challenges and future scenarios for the CEE region.

Over the past three decades, since the fall of communism, Central and Eastern Europe has been one of the world's most remarkable economic success stories. But the question now is what lies ahead for CEE? Which political paths will the region take? What challenges and opportunities will shape our societies in the years to come?

Zuzana Čaputová served as the president of Slovakia from 2019 to 2024, the first female president in the Visegrád Four. A lawyer by profession, she was a strong advocate for the rule of law, environmental protection, and women's rights. In 2020, she was ranked 83rd on Forbes' list of the 100 most powerful women.
